HEARING TODAY ON HIGHWAY BONDS

Committee Hopes To Conclude Public Discussion of Good Roads Measures NotLaterThanThursday

Wheels of the state legislature Tuesday continued to grind on road bond, school bond and pension problems as outlined in Governor Clifford Walker's special session call, with th following results:

The constitutional amendments committee of the house of representatives delayed taking any definite ction until Thursday after sharp division of sentiment developed over the question of combining all education bond measures into a single bill.

On the heels of state educational institution leaders who Monday outwhich swelled the total asked to date to $14,000,000.

The house voted solidly to adopt the Atlantic railroad warrants to pay Confederate pensions.

The senate listened to a lengthy address by A. H. Thompson, promi nent LaGrange attorney who is chief of the "pay-as-you-go" plan for roadin which he attacked the proposal to issue state bonds for highav construction.

Findings of the committee follow:

"We, your committee, appointed to investigate the purchasing agent, find as follows:

"That there have been minor irregularities in this department attributable principally to an imperfect ordinance and an imperfect system adopted by the purchasing committee and the purchasing agent, due to special circumstances in unusual cases.

"We further exonerate Mr. Price of any misconduct in office."

When the meeting opened Tuesday night, the defense introduced a line of testimony intended to show animus against Price and a desire to succeed him as purchasing agent as the cause of what it termed a "political persecution." This was met by Attorney Claude Smith, Barnes' attorney, with the assertion that the charges, no matter what was back of them, should be considered on their merits. W. Paul Carpenter, Price's lawfer, countered with the statement that he and his client were "willing to submit to an investigation, but not to a persecution."

While the petition of complaint set fourth several causes it was directed principally against alleged dealings involving "favoritism" in the award of contracts to a local tire company, a concern with which Mr. Price's son is connected. This flared again Tuesday night and Mr. Carpenter cited previous testimony to substantiate claims that the firm was selling tires to the city from 10 to 11 per cent lower than other standard brands could be obtained.

Price Corroborated.

Dr. C. J. Vaughan, councilman from the fourth ward and chairman of the purchasing committee, testified that the committee knew that certain "emergency and replacement" merchandise was bought without sanction of the purchasing committee, testified that the committee knew that the that this was due to the fact that the committee meets at irregular intervals and, therefore, could not be relied upon to pass on such goods.

"It seems clear," the commission stated, "that the proposed unification stated. That the proposed unification is a step along the right lines in carrying out the policy of congress of encouraging the formation of a limited number of systems. A greater amount of actual and effective competition in service may be assured by a limited number of well articulated systems than by a greater number of systems than by a greater number of systems less complete. "Other meritorious groupings of these carriers might be proposed but viewing the grouping presented in this application strictly from a transportation standpoint, we find that the proposed acquisitions of control are in the public interest."

The commission was severe in its condemnation of the set-up of inter-locking directors of the Nickel Plate, the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Hocking Valley when the mergers were voted. Force Is Alleged.

"The record leaves no doubt," the commission declared, "that the interests dominating the Chesapeake & Hocking Valley, who as we have pointed out, are those controlling the Nickel Plate, used every weapon at their command to crush all opposition to their predetermined course of action, and that there was an utter lack of ndependence and impartial representa-tion of all of the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Hocking when consideration was being given by their directors to approval of the plan and the terms of the proposed leases. Re-quests made by stockholders for relevant and material information met by evasion or refusal. All but two of the directors of the Chesapeake who voted in favor of the plan were virtually interested in the result from a viewpoint far different from that of mere stockholders in the Chesapeake." The contrast between these deals and manner in which the stockhollers of Pere Marquette and Erie were pro-tected was striking, the commis-sion observed. Control Doubtful. Control Doubtful.

The Van Sweringens were said to control directly or indirectly only 32.85 per cent of all the voting stock of the companies affected by their proposal. But through formation of holding corrorations they would, without purchasing a single additional share, control 50.93 per cent of the perger control 50.93 per cent of the perger control 50.93 per cent of the merger com-

Some of the exchange provisions "appear to be de-exchange provisions "appear to be de-signed to coerce all the stockholders into exchanging their stock for that of the new company upon the terms proposed. That stubborn and dangerous film-you must remove it

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

You can't see it with your eyes, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it ... a slippery coating. That film absorbs discolora-tions from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, combat it. Highest authorities tell you this.

Brushing won't end it

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent-different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice the world has, turned to it. Tooth and gum troubles hence are on the decline.

Cotton Growers of Georgia Sign 7 - Year Cooperative Marketing Agreement Here

sion of State Association Here; Growing Success Forecast.

More than 600 prominent cotton growers coming from virtually every county in Georgia met Tuesday in Wesley Memorial church auditorium and entered into a seven-year agree ment to market their cotton through the Georgia Cotton Growers Coopera-tive association. In speeches deliver ed at the session, members predicted operative association. Bankers and business men joined with cotton pro-ducers in pledging their complete cooperation to the movement during the seven-year period. Signatures to pledges made Tuesday represent ap-proximately 23.000 bales, and this is out the beginning of the work, accord-but the beginning of the work, according to speakers.

J. E. Conwell, president of the association, presided and declared that the amount of cotton handled through the association increased from 55,000 bales of cotton pledged in 1922 to 115,000 bales handled last year. Andrew J. Fleming, official of the association, took charge of an "open meeting" held Tuesday afternoon, at meeting" held Tuesday afternoon, at which more than a score of promi-nent farmers told of success of the movement in their respective locali-

He said in a few years the national association has enrolled more than 300,000 members and now handles more than 1.250,000 bales of otton annually.
"No one can say in definite figures what effect this movement has had upon the price of cotton," he said. "It is interesting to note, however, the credit which even those who are engaged in speculative handling of cotton attribute to the stabilizing in-fluence of the movement."

Mr. Moser said the task of organiz-

Mr. Moser said the task of organizing has just begun.

"It could not be expected that a task so huge, involving an industry so complicated and so entremard, could be perfectly organized in so short a space of time," he said. "We must widen our perspective; comprehend the cotton industry as a whole; recognize our place in the commerce of the world, and contribute our portion to the adjustment of the industry in such a way as to make possible the same being placed on a permanent basis of profit."

Black Approves Movement.

Black Approves Movement. Eugene R. Black, president of the Atlanta Trust company, delivered an inspirational address at the morning session and gave his hearty approval of the cooperative movement. Mr. of the cooperative movement. Mr Black said the best business interests of Georgia and Atlanta are squarely behind this movement, and he said it means as much to the future of the state as any movement ever started. Mr. Black personally gave his pledge to market 1,100 bales of cotton through the cooperative association. The cooperative movement is a "life-saver" to agricultural interests fe-saver" to agricultural interests the state, according to Dr. A. M. onle, head of the State College of

One of the outstanding features of the Tabernacle Bible conference, which convenes Friday afternoon at the Tabernacle, corner Spring and Luckie streets, will be a series of three lectures by Dr. Reuben Archer Torrey, author and evangelist. He will speak at 7:30 o'clock on Mon-day, Tuesday and Wednesday nights on the subject. "Ten Reasons Why I Believe the Bible Is the Word of These lectures have been delivered in all principal cities of the United States and in many foreign countries and have been translated in French and have been translated in French, German, Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Norwegiau, Swedish Dutch, Turkish and other languages. Dr. Torrey was born in Hoboken, N. J., in 1856, and received an A. B. degree from Yale in 1875, later attending Leipzig and Erlangen in 1882-3. He was ordained in 1878. In 1902-3 he visited and preached in England, Scotland, Ireland, Germany, France, Australia, New Zealand,

One of the novel institutions includ-ed in this educational forward movement in Florida is one planted at Panama City on St. Andrews bay, on tails of the undertaking.

It is a 100 per cent orthodox fun nentalist college, backed by earn-believers in "the old-time reli-n," and is designed to be a great central institution where general cul-tural studies will be pursued, but where the acute accidents of the ed-ucation provided will be upon the di-vine inspiration of the Holy Scrip-tures in both Testaments, the direct Imprimatur. It seems strange, so says a writer in the Manchester Guardian, that no one has ever compiled an indexed anthology of terms of abuse for use on several occasions. We have indeed complete letter writers which show us to a nicety how to address a lady when wishing to inform her of our creation of man, the incarnation and virgin birth of Christ, His blood atonement for the sins of mankind, His vicarious death and His resurrection from the dead, and the present ninistry of the Holy Spirit affecting he new birth and the imparting of

He has been carefully working out the plan for such a college during his years of travel and public evangelism in all parts of the union. He has advised with religious and educational authorities of the highest abilities. Now, with a thoroughly digested scheme, he has selected an ideal location at Panama City, obtained the ready backrag of city authorities; ministers and business men, and has every financial security to give success to the enterprise. It will involve the investment of $5,000,000, and the college is scheduled to be ready for students in the fall of 1927.

Attorney Allen held a conference Tuesday with Dr. Newdigate Owensby concerning White's mental condition. Dr. Owensby expressed opinion that White is showing symptoms of "dementia praecox" and said if this disease is not checked immediately the boy's mind will be ravaged to such an extent that he will become lopelessly insane. The X-ray examination is sought to determine whether White's skull has been fractured. White's skull has been fractured. White is charged with complicity in the theft of an automobile at Cocoanut Grove, Fla., and with having transported this automobile to Fairburn, where he was taken into custody several weeks ago.

PIGER FLOWERS—the Deacon, as he has become known to New York I boxing writers—will arrive back in Atlanta about 6 o'clock this afternoon, carrying with him his newly gained fame as middleweight

And if you think the new king of his division is not going to be given a rousing welcome you are mistaken. The Deacon, it appears, is a member of the Gate City lodge of Elks, which takes its membership from among the colored folks of the city. The lodge is going to turn out and see that the Tiger has a fitting reception from the people of his race on his arrival here. The lodge members are going to meet at Jones and Jones' place on Edgewood avenue this afternoon to make final arrangements for the ding-bustedest welcome ever accorded a member of their race in this town.

Stanislaus Zbyszko, of Poland, the grand old man of the mat game, probably will saunter into the ring with the winner of the big battle at the auditorium Thursday night between Charley Rentrop, of Germany, and Jimmy Londos, of Greece, it was announced Monday by Promoter John Contos.

Whether or not Stanislaus, the older of the two Zbyszkos, will be forced into a handicap, or straight match, remains to be seen. He weighs around 250 pounds, and for either Londes or Rentrop to give away 45 or around 250 pounds, and for either Londos or Rentrop to give away 45 or 50 pounds would prove a severe handicap, so it may be that Zbyszko will be asked to toss his man twice within the hour, or something of that sort.

Contos is not only attempting to land Zbyszko, but he is in communication with Lea Stecher the world's Tarheels Defeat Final Opponents in Race for Southern Conference Championship, 37 to 23, After Gruelling Battle at City Auditorium.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.

Speeding up and down the court in a combination which could not be fathomed even by the hard-fighting Aggies from Mississippi, North Carolina university's basketball team Tuesday night won its fourth championship of the southern conference at the city auditorium when it defeated the Starkville quintet by a score of 37 to 23.

when the second half started—and so fast the Aggies could not maintain the pace. They died hard. And they didn't want to die. They fought with every resource at their command until the bark of the piston determined that they were the runners-up and that they are the runners-up and that they are the sagain had come into possession of the championship.

A Gang of Heroes.

It is not often that one can take a losing team and make it a gang of heroes. And it scarcely is in order here, but before proceeding to the business of pointing out that the Tar Heels are real champions let's just consider the fact that Starkville sent us a team which was not even counted in the running. On the first day of the tournament it put Maryland out of the contest and Maryland had been figured into the final bracket by many exercise. Next, it met the aggies to the star of the team—an inspiraion to each and a leader to admire.

Next it met the speedy North Carolina State team and won, and then the Aggies sank Kentucky, another team which had been figured in the final round. In meeting North Carolina university the Mississippians were battling the playing-through champions and they fought a hard and game fight—one which would have fight-one which would have Rather it is to their credit that they were able to battle successfully against odds which seemed overwhelming in the first half. The Aggies scored six points before the Carolinians ever got the range of the basket and had trotted out so far in front before the end of the first half that it looked impossible for any team to take the lead from such hard fighters. to take the lead from such hard fighters. Only a few minutes before the first half ended the champions were behind with the Aggies leading, 14 to 10, but the running attack of the Chapel Hill quintet got under way and when the pistol ended the half the count stood at 15-all.

Came Back Strong.

The Tar Heels came back to the court in the second half greatly refreshed, while the Aggies, having undergone some of the harshest treatment of the tournament, were none look at. In spite of this fact the too good to look at. In spite of this fact the great heart of the Aggies asserted itself and they played as though their trip back home depended upon victory.

The amazing work of Cobb, Dodderer and Newcomb, however, was too much for the Aggies. They ran up and down the court in pursuit of these sterling Chapel Hill visitors, but could not stop them. Had the Aggies been trained to the same degree as that attained by the champions they probably would have made the score closer, but they had not.

Miss Helen Wills, Senorita De Alvarez, Frau Neppach and Oici Vlasto all weathered today's round of the women's singles in the Mentone tennis tournament. will meet the American champion tomorrow, but Senorita De Alvarez and Mademoiselle Vlasto, seeded in the lower half of the draw, are likely to fight it out in the semi-finals. Miss Wills played today against Miss Daisy Hamerton, of England, whom she defeated, 6-0, 6-0.

So far as scores are concerned, there was little to choose between the four winners. Senorita De Alvarez won 6-1, 6-0; Vlasto, 6-1, 6-0, and Frau Neppach, 6-1, 6-1.

The German player was elated over her victory, but showed worriment about meeting Miss Wills tomorrow, saying: "This will be my finish." "I am so sorry Mademoiselle Lenglen has gone to Italy," said Miss Wills after she had won from Miss Hamerton. "But still she knows her own business best. I feel disappointed that I cannot meet her again until Wimbledon, but don't you think she should have given me a return match here?"

Miss Wills said she probably would play in Italy in three tournaments, at Rome, Milan and Genoa, and not take sketching lessons, as she intended.

Greenville, S. C., March 1 .- (A)-Tastern boxing writers already have started a wailing lot of comment on the possibilities of a negro boxing king. They refer you to the days when Jack Johnson ruled the heavyweight division, and they are casting about in wide and ever-widening circles for a white man who will take the measure of Walk Miller's fighter.

They forget, however, or perhaps they never have learned, that Jack Johnson was a Chicago negro, who lived a life of utter recklessness and made himself continually obnoxious. The Tiger is not that kind of a man. He will fight when Walk Miller tells him and whomsoever Miller tells him to fight, and the will lose his championship. Some negro may win it, but there are white middleweights capable of stopping the Tiger or even outpointing him. No great alarm need be felt over his possession of the title. It will be taken care of.

Informal Social Events Hold Sway in Society This Week

Social events are chiefly in the future, although society is not wearing its sackcloth and ashes exclusively. In an informal way, there are gatherings of friends for luncheons, bridge, teas, dinners, etc., when visitors are being honored. Among those who are inspiring some of these cozy, intimate affairs are Mrs. Kenneth Matheson, of Philadelphia, who is the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Barnett, and Miss Cecil Jones, of Washington, D. C., who is receiving many informal social courtesies as the guest of Miss Marion Darrah.

Mrs. Richard Johnston will honor Mrs. Kenneth Matheson at lunch-eon today, and Mrs. Matheson will be given a tea by the "Professors"

Wives' club" of Georgia Tech. Unique in its "get-up" at least, and something new in the form of invitation, and, no doubt, entertainment, is the "coffee party" at which the members of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity will be hosts this evening at Capital City club.

Like a veritable old world museum is the marvelous collection of relics and "objects d'art" now on display at the Atlanta Woman's club, under the auspices of the arr department of the Atlanta Woman's club in conjunction with the Atlanta Art association. Social and cultural Atanta will spend every available moment viewing this creditable showing, n which the entire city takes vital interest.

MADAM POMPADOUR'S CLOCK FEATURES ART EXHIBITION

Mrs. Calhoun Contributes Exquisite Venetian Desk To Atlanta Woman's Club Show

The fashion show at the Woman's club Monday night was a very happy beginning of a most remarkable week in the life of this splendid organization, thanks to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Wilmer Moore, her cochairmen, Mrs. Price-Smith and Mrs. Ronald Ranson, and the different very capable committees in charge.

From the moment the curtain rose on Mrs. James K. Jordan as the attractive "America" in the frame of gold, until the closing scene, there was not a dull minute. A fitting introduction indeed to other remarkable things to follow in the week's program!

TIRED OF WATER, ABERDEEN TOWN GOES WET AGAIN

(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
London, March 2.—The Aberdeen town council has gone wet again. By a vote of 16 to 14, the Scottish councilors rescinded their own resolution of last December and decided that intoxicants could hereafter be served at civic banquets or magistrates meetings.

In spite of the plea of the 14 members of the opposition that Aberdeen would be made ridiculous in the eyes of the world by a wet ovte, the majority concluded that they were tired of attending functions of all kinds at which there is nothing liquid

Atlanta is the Southern Center Business Training

TLANTA is justly proud of its Business Schools and Colleges. Centered in this city are a dozen institutions offering standard work in shorthand, bookkeeping, typewriting, banking, salesmanship, accounting and commercial law. The ideals of these institutions are eloquently exhibited in the men and women of character who are constantly graduating and who go out to assume roles of distinguished service in the business world.

The remarkably high standards set by our Atlanta business schools are revealed in the recent appeals published by Draughon's Business College, urging young men and women to graduate from High School before taking their business training. This constructive suggestion by the Draughon institution has been highly commended by Mr. W. A. Sutton, Superintendent of Schools in Atlanta. Mr. Sutton says: "It gives me much confidence in a great business college like yours that has the courage to stand out and advise all students to finish high school before attempting a business course." Based on the principle that these Atlanta institutions for commercial training have built up a clientele which includes every state in the South. More than fifteen thousand persons are annually receiving their training for business careers in the Business Schools and Colleges of Atlanta.

Not only are these institutions supplying trained manpower for the increasing demands of Atlanta's many business interests, but the entire Southeast is depending increasingly upon the Business Schools and Colleges of Atlanta for the young men and young women who will fit into the expanding commercial and industrial life of this rapidly-growing section of the nation. As these young men and women come to Atlanta for their business training they imbibe the spirit of the city and go out to their vocations telling the world about the city, the state and the southland.

The contribution of the men and women who direct the Business Schools and Colleges of Atlanta is daily felt in the contacts of their graduates as they render back to society their service of thoroughness in detail and their devotion to the highly worthwhile movements in the world today. The type of business men and women graduated from these institutions bears out the testimony of Mr. Roger Babson when he says

"Good Business Depends upon Good Men."

Business education in Atlanta dates from 1866 when the Southern Shorthand and Business University was organized by Professor B. F. Moore, known for a while as Moore's Business College. Twenty-five years ago A. C. Briscoe and L. W. Arnold purchased the institution. The annual enrollment of this institution is approximately one thousand students, with equipment estimated to be worth Draughon's Business College in Atlanta is one of the outstanding institutions in that great system. President H. R. Todd and his associates have brought together fine equipment and a capable teaching staff. The enrollment is steadily growing, a fact which is reassuring when it is recalled that this institution is laying particular emphasis upon entrance requirements.

The American School of Commerce, established in 1921, is intended to meet the growing demands for adults who desire to improve their efficiency either by classroom work or home study. A faculty of certified public accountants works personally with the increasing number of students and with gratifying results. The majority of the students in this school are married men. The institution conducts a placement service which has proved a blessing to many men and women. E. H. Bailey is the president.

CELIA'S ABSURDITY. Celia's glance and tone made Hilary think of a hare suddenly alert at danger behind its screen of brushwood. "I mean Serge Kirilenko, Celia... be funny. But what a queer way to answer his recommendation of Kirilenko!

He had better, he thought, take her remark as naturally as it had been spoken. So he smiled and said that he, too, didn't think the word husband particularly euphonious, but that what he wanted to talk to her about was the substance it represented and not the symbol itself.
"In fact, my dear," he concluded, "I had a letter from Kirilenko this

In it he makes you another proposal of marriage. Now don't speak to quickly!" he begged, as he saw her lips part. Celia's lips closed obediently, and he went on to say not only few but a great many things with some eloquence.

He could not have spoken so convincingly, of course, had he not be-lieved what he was saying. When he stopped at last and asked naxiously:

"Well, Celia? . . . What am I to say to Kirilenko?"
She replied at once: "Please don't be angry with me . . . but if you will be so kind, say I am sorry, but that I can't think of marrying him.' "But that's cruel, Celia! . . . to send him word that you can't even think of marrying him! . . Why won't you say instead that you will think of it, and then see more of him? I am sure that you'd change your mind if you saw more of him."

"No," said Celia with decision. "That woulld be cruel, because now I only don't want to marry him, but if I saw more of him I should dis-"Dislike a man for loving you and wanting to marry you?" asked Hilary, in a reproachful tone.

"That is just what makes it so unpleasant. Besides, he doesn't ve me. He may think so, but he only really loves his queer I look like them, so he imagines he loves me..."

"Celia! How can you be so absurd?" cried Hilary, but he was glad the room was darkened, because he felt the blood rising into his face. There was just enough truth in what she said to make him feel uncom-

"It isn't absurd . . . it's true," said Celia calmly. "You must have noticed it, haven't you?" "I certainly have not," he answered with some irritation.
might say the same thing of any caricature of a very tall woman."

"Haven't you any more weighty reason to give me for refusing even to consider his offer?" he inquired at last, trying to keep his irritation out of his voice this time. "No," said Celia, "except . . ."

"Well?" Except . . ."

"Except that I don't want to marry any one..." She aided firmly, before he could speak: "I dislike the idea of marriage."

"Do you mean you dislike it because you don't happen to like Kiri-Or in itself?" I dislike it in every way. I shall never marry."

This, coming on top of last night's fruitless vigil, and her quenching of that one ray of hope, quite exasperated him. "You say that very coolly, my dear girl. Have you ever thought what you will do if you don't marry?"

Her quick glance showed surprise.
"I have money of my own . . . five thousand dollars a year, you told me . . . I can live on that . . ."

"Really, you talk like a child!" exclaimed Hilary. "A girl of twenty can't live alone."
"But they do," said Celia.

Hilary quite lost his temper. "They are not my wards," he returned sharply. "I have something to say in the matter, I must remind you, and I do not choose that you shal live alone." He paused to get his voice under control. "Besides," he went on more quietly, "you're not accustomed to living in the way you'd have to, with only five thousand a year. You couldn't possibly pay for a companion out of such a sum."
"I shouldn't mind," said she.

"I have told you that I should." She was silent again. He looked at her pale, mute face and understood for the first time how Laura had been exasperated by her obstinacy. It had seemed to him rather a laughable trait when mentioned at second hand, but now it would have given him great satisfaction to shake her, as a nurse shakes a provokingly stubborn child.

"Am I to infer," he asked, with a sarcasm he didn't even try to "that my wishes have as little weight with you as poor Kirilen-

"No," answered Celia tranquilly, "I shall always do what you wish." This coftened him. "And why is that, Celia?"

"Because you are my legal guardian . . . until I marry . . . and as I never shall mar..."

Hilary broke in on her. "There's no need to repeat your very wise resolution," said he, becoming more and more stilted as his anger rose. "What I should like to hear is your alternative plan, if you have one, and will do me the favor

She looked full at him for a second or two, and on her closed lips was the smile that gave her face that locked expression.

"Why didn't you have me taught to do some kind of work?" she asked. "Then I could have been independent. No one bothers when a working girl lives alone."

Hilary flushed, then controlled himself. He couldn't tell her that he had educated her to be a teacher, and that she had failed to qualify for

"May I ask, please," he said with careful politeness, "what sort of work you think I should have had you taught to do?"
"Something with my hands," she answered, looking down at them.
"They are very strong, and I am, too. I have never been ill. I am sure I could have done some useful work, if I'd been taught."

As he said nothing in reply to this, she reflected a moment, then WINNIE THE

"If I could have believed in the Catholic religion I might have been

This startled Hilary out of his ill humor for a moment, curiosity overcoming his irritation, at her childish lack of comprehension.
"Would you have liked to be a nun?" he asked.
"I like being quiet and alone... I wouldn't have minded."

"Do you remember once telling me that you thought you could be as happy as some one else?"

"Was it some great religious personage you were thinking of?"

"You won't tell me who it was, I suppose?" . . please."

He jumped up and began pacing the shadowy room.

FARM RELIEF ISSUE DELAYED IN CONGRESS

Washington, March 2 .- (A)-The long anticipated opening of hearings May on farm relief legislation by the house July agriculture committee failed to ma-terialize today. A last minute shift of plans by farm organization leaders led to a postponement until to-morrow or possibly Thursday. The committee will use the interval to dispose of several minor bills and hereby clean its legislative slate of Ill matters except farm relief.

The change in plans grew out, in part, of a conference last night of the farm leaders at which a number of members of congress were present, It was announced additional time was lesired to give the finishing touches to the proposal of the organization.

I. C. IMPROVEMENTS TO COST $47,000,000

Memphis, Tenn., March 2.—(A)—
The Illinois Central zailroad plans to spend $47,000,000 in the near future for improvements (on its lines, the Memphis exc. tive offices of the road announces. Of this amount $10,238,000 will be used in a new road bed and track between Edgewood, Ill., and Fulton, Ky. This route, which will shorten the distance between Chicago and Memphis and New Orleans by eliminating a "jog" in the present Edgewood-Fulton line, provides the equivalent of a triple-track system.

AT NEW ORLEANS
New Orleans, March 2.—(P)—The cotton market was a two-sided affair today, advancing 23 to 25 points during the morning on covering by traders who believed that a recovery was due after the recent considerable advance and losing all the gain and more besides during the afternoon on the weakness of the spot markets and the sharp break in the New York stock market.

At the lowest prices of the afternoon active months were 31 to 40 points below the highs of the morning and 8 to 15 points below the close of yesterday. The close showed net losses for the day of 6 to 11 points.

At the start Livernool cables were At the start Liverpool cables were At the start Liverpool caples were better than due causing the market to open 2 to 3 points up. Prices firmed up after the opening on covering induced by the idea that the decline had gone too far and a rally was due particularly as the technical position of the market had stiffened. The recovery in the New York stock market during the early trading was market during the early trading was also an incentive to a rally. By the middle of the morning March traded up to 18.47. WHEAT PRICES New York, official list of York curb excl bonds traded:

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago, Ill., March 2.—Liquidation was on again in the grain markets today with September wheat, May and September corn. and May and July oats all selling at new low figures on the crop. Stop loss &rders were uncovered in all grains, but the selling was by no means as heavy as on Monday and a strong rally from the low point came toward the last with wheat off only 1-4 to 1-2c at the last with May 1583-8 to 1585-8; July 1395-8 to 1397-8, and September 133-4 to 1341-4. Corn lost 1-4 (23-8c with May 771-4 to 773-8 and July 803-8, while oats finished 1-4 lower with May 401-8 to 401-4 and July 41 to 411-8. Rye developed independent weakness and lost 2 to 21-8 with May 851-4 to 851-8 and July 861-8.

Wheat prices had a range of 31-8 to 35-8, fluctuating with extreme rapidity at times, May breaking from 1581-2 down to 1563-8, the low point of the day and advanced to 1581-2 again inside of five minutes. The market was easily influenced by any good buying or selling. The drastic decline in the New York stock market got under way after the grain markets closed and consequently had little effect.

Aggressive support appeared in wheat on all the breaks with houses with eastern connections absorbing the offerings at times. Local sentiment was generally bearish, the feeling being that the market would not recover quickly in view of the great amount of long grain that has come out recently and which had not been thoroughly digested as yet. There was little in the general run of news that attracted attention. Favorable crop reports from Kansas, both official and private had some effect on the deferred deliveries.

The break to the low point failed to uncover any foreign export demand and no sales were claimed at the seaboard. World's available supply in-deferred deliveries.

The break to the low point failed to uncover any foreign export demand and no sales were claimed at the seaboard. World's available supply increased 1,055,000 bushels for the week and is 212.453,000 bushels against 249,324,000 bushels last year.

Winnipeg was unchanged to 1-8e lower for the day, while Buenos Aires at the last was 1-4 higher to 1-8 lower with March 137-1-2 and May 144-1-4.

Liverpool lost 3-1-4 to 3-3-4d and is due 5-8@7-8d lower tomorrow based on the action of the Chicago market.

No material change was made in the cash basis in leading markets.

Nay corn sold down to 76-1-2 early, a new low on the crop but buying against bids and short covering abstraction of the Chicago market.

Nay corn sold down to 76-1-2 early, a new low on the crop but buying against bids and short covering abstraction of the offerings and the finish was on a rally of around 3-4 from the inside figure. Strength in cash grain the dominated to 4c higher, low grades showing the gain.

Stop loss orders were largely responsible for the weakness in oats and rye, May oats sold down to 39-7-8 and May rye to 84-7-8, the latter besing within 17-8c of the lowest price on the crop. Norway was credited with buying 100,000 bushels rye at the seaboard and local handlers sold 20,000 bushels to exporters.

20,000 bushels to exporters.

Chicago, March 2.—Hoping that his candidacy will "afford an official referendum on the question of modi-fying the prohibition law." George E. Brennan, manager of Governor Al Smith's presidential campaign in 1924, has decided to seek the democratic nomination for United States senator. Governor Al Smith, of New York, and Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the late President Wilson, are to be among the speakers brought into Illi-nois to campaign for Brennan's nomi-

Brehnan, who is probably the strongest democrat in Illinois and one of the most influential members of the national party, announced his de-cision to seek the nomination Tuesday night at a meeting of ward and precinct leaders here. In addition to the prohibition modification plank, Brennan's platform will call for home rule for the city BLACK AND WHITE CAB AND BAG-of Chicago.

"If I am elected the succeeding Brennan promised. "For if Illinois goes wet on an official vote then the members of congress who think we but vote dry will take this as the general will of the people."
